Practice 1

1. Title of the practice: Blood donation camp
2. Objective of the practice: The practice intended to create the feeling of integrity in the form of blood donation and create the importance of blood donation among youth.
3. Context: since the institute belongs to the part of most backward districts in the country college intended to create awareness of blood donation camp at college. Being most backward district in terms of education, science and technology the citizens are not aware of the blood donation camp. Most of the people were afraid that once they have donated the blood, they will be infected with various diseases, many of them felt that they will not recover their blood soon with the fear that donation leads to weakness for a longer time. The implementation of the programme came across with various problem rising from the mental preparation of students till the arrival of the doctors team.
4. The practice: The as Blood donation camp was organised at the college on 30th August, 2018 by NSS department to make students aware about the importance of blood donation. On the occasion of the programme Dr. Dilip Sontakke guided the students and told how blood donation helps in maintaining our health. He also told that blood donation programme helps in strengthening the bond of humanity in society. The programme encountered many problems like the less number of volunteer, volunteers having less weight, volunteers having less hemoglobin ,some among the volunteers were shocked when they first-time saw live blood etc.
5. Evidence of Success: The institution received lot of success not only by the students but also the society though it came across many problems. Total 25 NSS volunteer donated blood on the occasion.
6. Problems encountered and resources required: There were some notable problems which the institution came across while arranging the programme. Most important and notable problem was to make the volunteers ready for blood donation. It was a challenge to convince them that there are not any side effects of the blood donation. Another problem was regarding the proper resources in arranging the programme. Soon after the donation, many volunteers felt weakness. So, the prime duty was to take care of them. After donation, the volunteers needed proper food and fruits in emergency which was not as good as we expected.

Practice - 2

1. Title of the practice: AIDS awareness rally
2. Objective of the practice: The practice intended to clear the concept of AIDS and its origin among students and citizens
3. The context: The practice witnessed many challenges to organize. Some of the issues in the practice were showing the banners of AIDS, some posters and pictures regarding the spread of AIDS and its effects on society were used.
4. The Practice: The rally of the practice was performed with the help of the volunteers of NSS and other college students. Students had prepared various slogans and posters of causes of AIDS, its effects on youths and on the society especially.
5. Evidence of success: The rally got the unprecedented support from the college students, faculties and the natives as well. Around 43 students enrolled their participation. The college students without feeling any type of shy gave the slogans during the rally and showed the causes and the effects of AIDS to the citizens with the help of pictures and banners. The citizens were fully overwhelmed and the suggested that the syllabus of AIDS should be prescribed at college level to make the society aware of the issue.
6. Problems encountered and resources required: The rally was the center of the attraction of the programme of all citizens. The institution had to take tolls for the preparation of slogans and paper posters to send the message of the initiative. Even the faculties had to convince the female students to hold the paper posters which had made them awkward. The female students felt shy to show or to hold the posters of AIDS rally as it contained sensual contents.
